Dear Parent/Carer

Re: World Book Day – Friday 2nd March 2018

Although World Book Day is officially held on Thursday 1st March this year, we will be celebrating World Book Day on Friday 2nd March 2018. Your child can come into school dressed up as their favourite character from a book and can bring their favourite book into school to share with the class if they wish.

We are using World Book Day as an opportunity to raise the profile of the importance of reading both with the child and their parents & carers. We have a number of exciting initiatives planned which will hopefully engage everyone in the joy of reading and you will hear more about these initiatives over the next few months.

On World Book Day, between 2pm – 3pm, we will be having 'Reading Stations' around the school where an adult will be reading aloud work by a certain author. Children can then choose which author and which stories they would like to listen to. 'Reading Stations' will be located all around the school and will include: classrooms, school office, hall, library, ICT suite, staff room and (weather permitting) the outdoor classroom!

Children attending Breakfast Club will be able to choose from a range of books which will be available that morning. At lunchtime, children will be given opportunities to read outside and in quiet reading garden if they wish.

Each child will be given a £1 book token to spend when buying a book.

Yours sincerely

Mr S Myers
